01 . FEATURE . WALL STREET

Claude just took over Wall Street

QUICK TAKE

Anthropic released 10 ready-to-run AI agent templates for financial services on Tuesday at an invite-only event in New York.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

- The 10 templates: Pitch builder, Meeting preparer, Earnings reviewer, Model builder.
- The Microsoft 365 layer: Claude is now inside Excel, PowerPoint, Word.
- The market reaction: FactSet fell 8.1%.

WHY IT MATTERS

Anthropic said financial institutions make up 40% of its top 50 customers. This launch is not Anthropic asking permission.

02 . INVESTMENT . DISTRIBUTION

Anthropic just locked in Goldman

QUICK TAKE

The day before the Wall Street agent launch, Anthropic disclosed a $1.5 billion joint venture with Blackstone, Hellman & Friedman, and Goldman Sachs.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

- The structure: approximately $1.5B total.
- The vehicle's job: a forward-deployed engineering operation.
- The competitive note: Bloomberg reports OpenAI is building a comparable JV structure.

THE BIG PICTURE

Software vendors usually fight for distribution. Anthropic just bought it.

EDITORIAL . MY TWO CENTS

The serious era just started.

The model layer was the conversation for two years. The conversation just moved. It moved to distribution, deployment, oversight, internal state monitoring.

Anthropic understands this. Claude inside Excel is a deeper hook than any benchmark.

IF YOU TAKE ONE THING FROM THIS

For the next 18 months, the AI question that matters is not "which model is best." It is "where is your model embedded."
